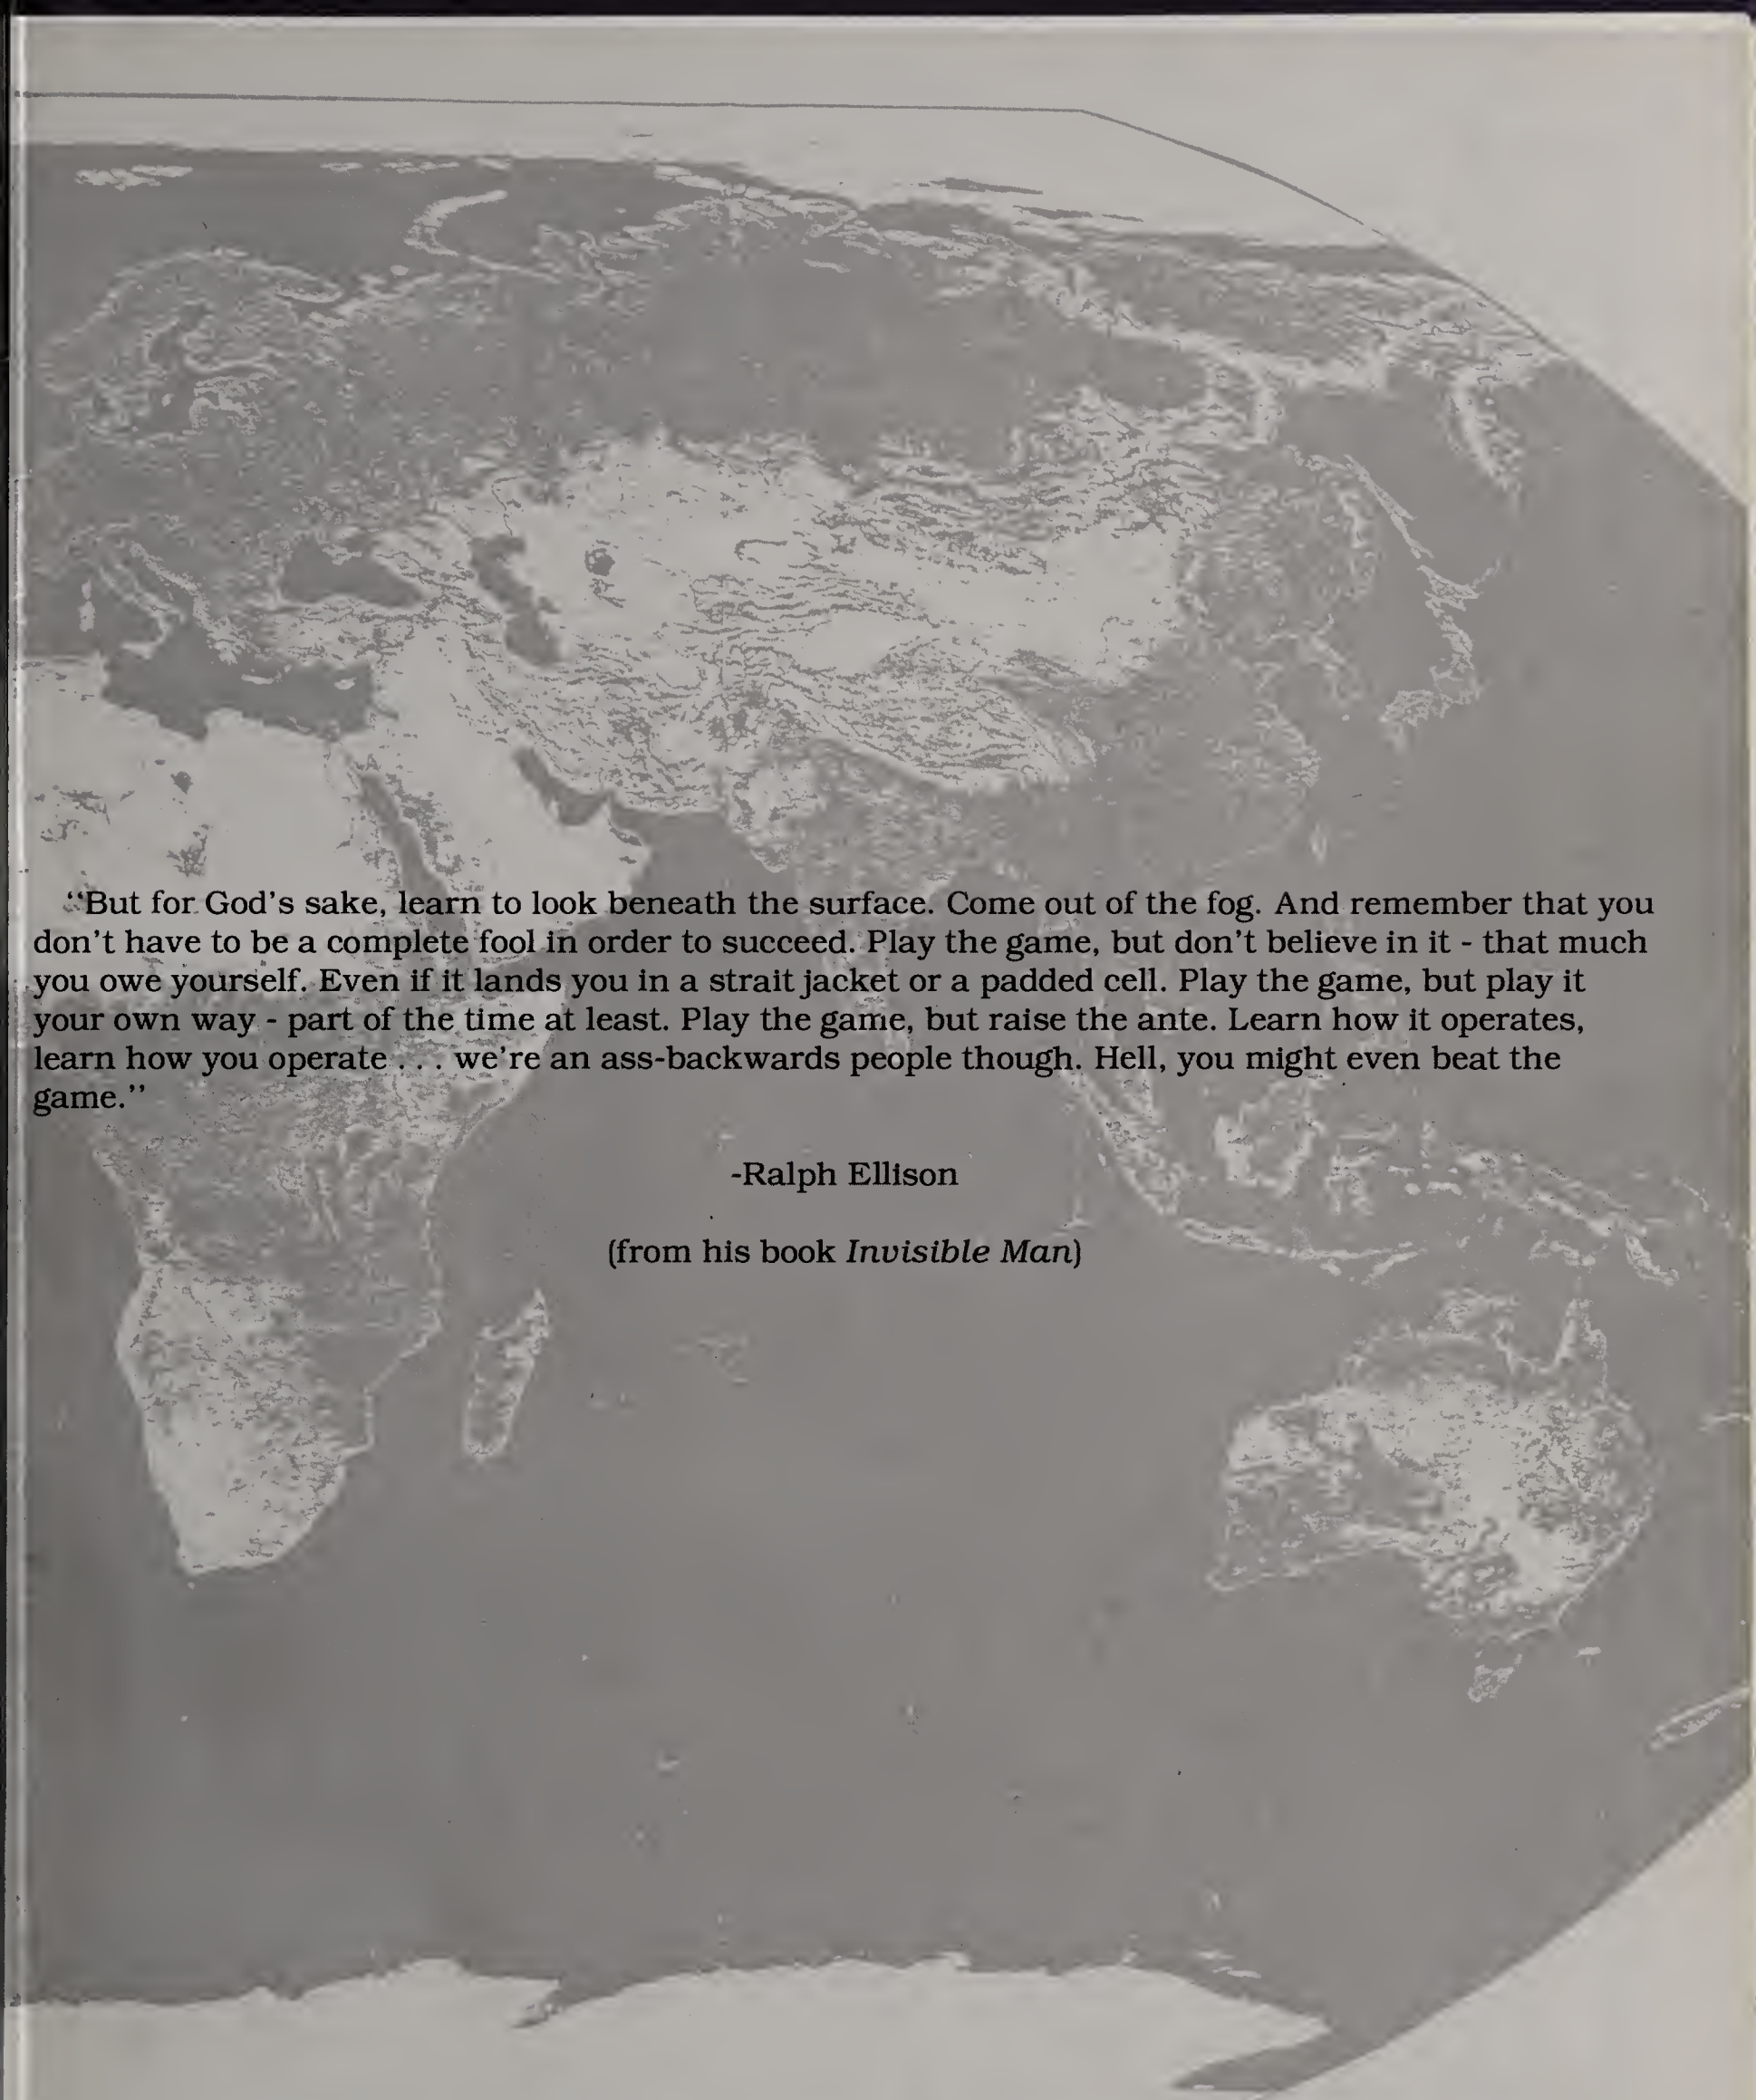
Class History

In the four short years since we, the class of 1995 entered high school, the world and ourselves have changed dramatically. As freshman, we arrived at MVRHS with anticipation and butterflies fluttering in our stomachs. We had no idea that the next four years would inevitably shape our lives to come. As A class, where each individual is unique unto themselves, we have a profound respect for the diversity within each other. We are no longer the children that entered this high school four years ago, we will soon graduate as eager adults ready to experience the endless adventures that await us in the real world.

I present to you the most memorable and world changing events that have happened in our time. The L.A. Riots have become symbolic of chaos and violence, as the races clashed in the flaming streets of a torn city. The videotape of Rodney King has remained vivid in our mind for a long time since. The battle for civil rights continues as gays fight for their right to defend their country and women fight for their right to choose. Anita Hill became a symbol to all American women, as she testified against the nomination of Clarence Thomas to the Supreme Court. Our world has become a battle ground as war has erupted in Somalia, Bosnia, Rwanda and Haiti and we are left to wonder is their an end in sight? We are disturbed as the shocking reality of life and death are revealed to us. The World Trade Center bombing and the nerve gas attacks in Japan reminded us of how vulnerable we all are to the evil that exists in our world. AIDS has now become an epidemic, and the latex revolution has begun. The world has erupted as tragedy seeps from the earth. The floods in the mid-west, earthquakes in Kobe, Japan and California all illustrated the immensity of power the earth can unleash. The cry of freedom spread to the Middle East and South Africa, as we dawn on a united world front. The collapse of the Soviet Union and the fall of the Berlin Wall have become the symbols of peace and change. President Clinton was elected as a political revolution swept through Washington, with the creation of NAFTA and the numerous social programs to benefit our country. President Clinton made his first appearance on the island in the summer of our of our sophomore year, licking raspberry ice cream at Agricultural Fair with his daughter Chelsea. Nelson Mandela was at last freed from prison, as liberty and hope spread to South Africa. The island united to grieve the death of Jackie Onasis, one of the most admirable women of our time. Our community has come together to offer time and effort in the construction of a new Agricultural hall. In the athletic realm our high school has excelled. In our freshman and sophomore years, the football team not only trounced Nantucket but became the champions of division 5B. In 1993, both the boys and girls Varsity Basketball teams made it to states. For the first time in since 1974, the Varsity Field Hockey team became eligible for post-season play in the state championships and the Varsity Hockey Team has had undaunting success by qualifying for states for the past four years. The Varsity Girls Soccer team qualified for post-season play in the state tournament in fall of our senior year. The Minnesingers traveled to Germany and Slovakia, to perform and experience foreign cultures.

The class of 1995 has travelled a great distance to reach this point in our lives, and now it is time to leave behind the hallways and classrooms of MVRHS to seek our own adventures. As we step out into the world, may we strive to create peace, hope and happiness.

Gabrielle Whitcombe



"But for God's sake, learn to look beneath the surface. Come out of the fog. And remember that you don't have to be a complete fool in order to succeed. Play the game, but don't believe in it - that much you owe yourself. Even if it lands you in a strait jacket or a padded cell. Play the game, but play it your own way - part of the time at least. Play the game, but raise the ante. Learn how it operates, learn how you operate . . . we're an ass-backwards people though. Hell, you might even beat the game."

Jacqueline McCrystal and David Wilson

My memory began remembering things long before high school. If an experience is worth remembering, I should not need to be reminded by numbers or words. Words have no real meaning, only that of which we apply to them. Feelings which comes from the soul harbored inside of us. We are no more a controller of our souls, than our pen is the thoughts we write with it. We simply allow growth for our soul, as a pen does a composition. In my seventeen years of life I have grown to understand that we must allow our souls to be free. If inside I was suffering, so too was my soul. Had I not made choices to better my life, my soul would have grown to see I was unchanging, and my soul may have left me. I have made many hard choices in the past four years so my soul can exist freely. In me, my soul does not just survive, but flourish. I chose not to fall victim to the temptations of wine and tobacco, and to challenge myself intellectually. Those were the easy choices. I have only myself to thank. I made a few hard choices during these four years though, which wouldn't have been possible with out the help of many in my life. It is those people who I owe my internal freedom to. I need to thank these people. To my parents, whom have lived separately, but loved me together. Ma, you have stood by me my whole life, accepting and loving me unconditionally. You have been not only my mother, but my best friend. For that reason I am confident our relationship will last and I will always have you to come to when I am in need. To my Dad. Pop, you have been with me my whole life. But in the past two years you have let me know how much you truly care. I am thankful for that. I am proud of the changes you have made in your life. To both my parents, I Love you. To my step-mother. Ginny, our relationship has not always been perfect, but both of us have worked hard at it, and I thank you for that hard work. I Love You. To my sister Bonnie. Bozo, I've taken care of you since you were just a baby. I taught you how to tie your shoes and ride a bike. My help does not stop there, and I will be here for you if you should ever need a big sister to talk to . I Love You. To my sister Leslie. Wendy, you are only five, but someday you may read this remembering who I was to you in high school. I was your big sister whose hair you loved to brush and who you always said good-bye to on the phone before bed. I Love You. To My Drew. Daniel, you have helped and supported me through my last two years. You have shone me what real love is. I have watched you grow form a boy into a man. I am proud of you. I Love You. To My Best Friend Emily. Emmy, you have been here for me through out my last four years. No matter how mad we may have been at times, you've always remained my best friend. There will always be a part of us inside which knows the other perfectly. We will always stay in touch. I Love You. To My Bestest friend Chelsea. Matilida, We have shared eight years of friendship. That alone speaks our commitment. I have lived, laughed, cried and dressed like a twin with you. There is a bond between us that will never be broken. I Love You. To the Toole Family. R,M,T,C, you have shared your home with me for two years. That I am thankful for. But more thankful, I am for the help, and love you have shared with me.

The first talks of graduation didn't mean so much to me, but wide eyes stared until they overflowed with wet clothes staining drops. The green of summer's fading now and fall finds itself bringing leaves to cover the slide, trying to hide the swings, but the swaying won't let leaves rest for long. Caught in that place between sleep and awake, that place where Tinkerbelle will always love Peter Pan, I find myself remembering the four year old on the two wheeler without training wheels wearing a helmet. Dusk is dawn's day that wakes me with his slap sending my mind whirling. I look without blinking my eyes dry. I see nothing in its place. Someone replaced the banister, the stairs, the shelves with an exact replica and only I notice the difference. The books she read to me before bed once had the name in crayon I printed there, but today from the shelf the book fell to reveal my name but not my kindergarten printing. These have been passed onto you. My home is just a house filled with toys that could belong to you, but don't belong to me. The foreign carpet embeds its lose staple in my toe telling me to move quickly. The splinter in my finger from the rocking horse I never played on asks me to leave faster, my hand blisters from the doorknob that didn't recognize my key. Throughout the pain I know my dreams will lead me home, Mr. Fixit healed my hand you healed my heart, thank you..

A little memoir to myself when I'm old and would be gray (if it wasn't for Nice n'Easy).....
Remember your long ago loved ones,Seana Zelaso a knock out beauty,and your morning teas together. Dawn whom is probably sitting at your side this very moment reminiscing with you. Jessica P. all of your CRAZY adventures esp. camping. Debbie, Big T, Kirstyn, and Sheri, who could be more fun? Skylar aand her ever present smile. Deagan,Kat, &Chris what outstanding people! Chad whom has predicted our marrige and is quitea guy! Matty C. whom I probably owe my sanity to &whose friendship I treasure so much!! And I can't forget the boys that have made the past years SO much fun, Zapata Scottie,Bruce,Frank,Tony(Bonnie&Clyde) Crow,Mr. Sweet,Bruce Maybe& Garth.
By now I'm sure I 'm all smiles already but to leave myself with just a few more moments, remember the day you found $300!And went crazy at the COP SHOP till dawn and Every Cozy's Crew how geat they all were!!
Hope all is well & you still have passion in your life and never forget how difficult,fast &FUN growing up was& Never forget how to have FUN!

Once in his life a man ought to concentrate his mind upon the remembered earth, I believe. He ought to give himself up to a particular landscape in his experience, to look at it from as many angles as he can, to wander about it, to dwell upon it. He ought to imagine that he touches it with his hands at every season and listens to the sounds that are made upon it. He ought to imagine the creatures that are there and the faintest motions of the wind. He ought to recollect the glare of noon and all the colors of dawn and dusk.

Amy Ellen Vaughan
(Vaughan, Elvis)

I have enjoyed these years as they have gone by quick,
I have so many memories which I cannot depict,
From Freshman year, all the way to the last,
I must say these 6 years (ha!), have been a blast.
I will never forget all of my friends,
But the knowledge I've obtained, that depends,
If I'm talking about Spain, to me that meant the most,
And my oh so successful field hockey career, but one should not boast.
The fact of the matter we went 1 for 15,
But who bothers with statistics, at least we had a team!
Sure, high school was great, but the best time in life,
Was watching "Dallas" with my mother every Friday night.
Thursdays with Johna and Gordon were splendid,
But the most memorable experiences are those unintended.
Although I may want to forget my bad luck with the van,
At Tashmoo Beach with CT in command.
But then there are the times I hope will stay with me forever,
Like saying "amba" in Spain, (with ME), that's clever.
The bloody nose that followed was a startling experience,
As well as being held at gun point for my "bomb threat" interference.
I remember lunches at the Wharf with JE because,
The meals were not noteworthy, but the company was.
Awaiting the reunion with KC and LNR,
Only this time I think it should take place in a bar.
Or at least one of the two shouldn't spew on my head,
Hey, "quiet's the game of the name", so she said.
The crash with Daggo extinguished a Sunday's festivities,
But we rekindled the flame many a night at MC's.
Then there was Al, who saved us from the boredom,
I wish there was a way we could find to reward him.
LM voluntarily produced my corrows,
For that she's the "Greatest American Hero "
So I hope in twenty years when I peruse this yearbook,
I will have a good laugh at the way everyone looked!
No not really, I hope I will remember these moments,
But most of all good friends, for they are the key components.
And anyone I forgot in this poem of times,
Realize that not every memory will rhyme.

Often rebuked, yet always back returning
  To those first feelings that were born with me,
And leaving busy chase of wealth and learning
  For idle dreams of things which cannot be:

To-day, I will seek not the shadowy region;
  Its unsustaining vastness waxes drear;
And visions rising, legion after legion,
  Bring the unreal world too strangely near.

I'll walk, but not in old heroic traces,
  And not in paths of high morality,
And not among the half-distinguished faces,
  The clouded forms of long-past history.

I'll walk where my own nature would be leading:
  It vexes me to choose another guide:
Where the grey flocks in ferny glens are feeding;
  Where the wild wind blows on the mountain-side.

What have those lonely mountains worth revealing?
  More glory and more grief than I can tell:
The earth that wakes one human heart to feeling
  Can centre both the worlds of Heaven and Hell.

Dartmouth Street

Walk me
down the street
under the maple
through the shadows
up the hill

Take me back let me see how it used to be

Take me
to play in the driveway run through the woods
roll in the yard
When my mind is clouded and I can't remember it any more

Let me see the past
when I need help in the present
Let me play
Let me forget
Let me step

Back onto Dartmouth street

-Rob Moriarty

As life flows onward.
Tides flow through you.
The shadow of time covers you.
And you cower below.
Friends earn your trust.
People earn their places.
Like a dream.
You write the final chapter
in your own book of life.
Die and move on.
Gain.
Lose.
Live.

Wind's Touch

The Soft breeze is gentle and dances across my forehead.
The soft lucious grassas host many hidden insects
Which are as dependable as the dew which slaps
Against my dry white sock. The wind spreads a Shower of leaves lazily across the yard.
Their crinkled rattling makes tem sound forbidding.
The mocking bird's song stands alone in the tree.
The pond sits patiently waiting for the wind to Dance over it.
The clouds seem to push the song further away in Exploration

Justice

I am Walking down the streets alone wondering where everyone has gone.
I knock on a door that all my friends are behind.
I hear their voices calling to me about a life
If I just close my eyes and dream of these beautiful things I wish that I could possess.

I am seeing what I thought I'd never see again.
When I had been judged,
I had been beaten too,
by the same prejudice that keeps killing all those who should be living.
But I will keep standing and waiting for Justice until I cannot stand any more.

Justice . . .
What is it?
Is it freedom or rage?
Is it having or needing?
Is it something for all of us?

* * *

My friends, behind that door I told you about.
their superiority kicks itself in the ass.
They have no clue about life.
Little goes the way we plan it.
What we want we won't ever matter.
It is not a fantasy and everything
I see aroung me is the opposite of life;
Death, and it doesn't get any better than this untill we find justice - Rebecca Macleod

Mortality

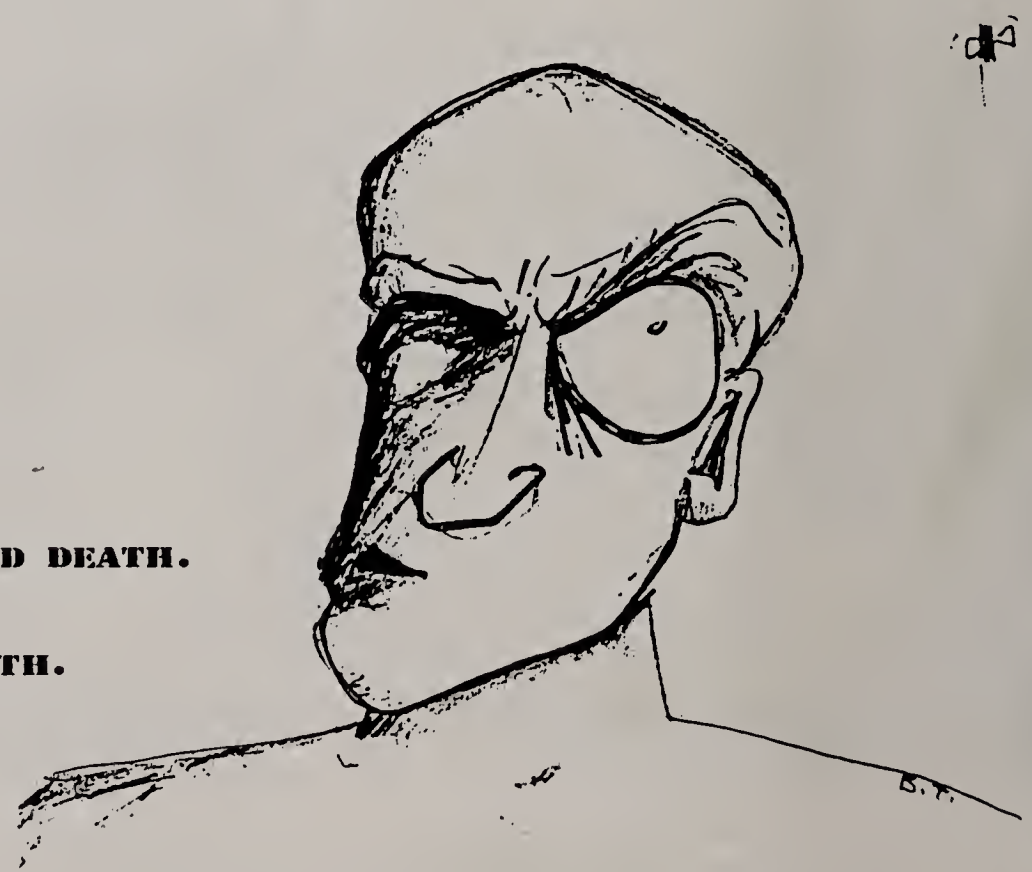
He arrives surrounded by mist
Bearing shrouds of black.
If I dove to take his hand
He may never lead me back.

His hands like ice;
Clammy and cold.
His eyes like the ocean;
Deep, gray and bold.

Here in front of me -
the gap between existence and death.
The choice is mine -
Live or breathe my last breath.

His shadow pulls at me,
I can't turn away.
His grip like a vice,
my conscience persuades me to stay.

- Megan Smith



FRESHMEN

Dependable Friends (the trees)
As the trees shed their worn growths
I cleanse myself of past memories;
Thoughts of what could have been fall heavily around my feet.
Now they are free of the weight they bore all year long.
The burdens of old times are lifted from my tired shoulders.

* *

Together we have survived yet another cycle,
but can we do it alone?
My tears are your nourishment;
your waste, my lifeline.
With every one of you that is lost, I lose one more breath of air.
We must sustain each other, cherish and love one another, or there will be no children, no cycle, no life.
- Megan Smith (excerpts from)

Time of you
The cycle of nature spins within life.
Trees shed their leaves like fur to have it grow again.
And I sit here watching yellow leaves fall in random spots like the rain
Lrecollect the experiences we had.
You're gone forever
For many.
But not from me
or my mind
or my soul.
It is the time of falling leaves.
It is the time for remembering you.

BASKETBALL CHEERLEADERS

This year, the 1994-95 Basketball Cheerleaders consisted of 4 girls. Stephanie Andrade, Raehel Dinning, Heather Leon and Sharon Oh. We had a tough year learning eheers because there were so few of us. We hope next year B-Ball Cheerleading with be popular again. Remember, we're there to lead the team's fans on in eheering for the players. Keep that Vineyard Spirit Up!

Congratulations for all your hard work with: Legos, Matchboxes and Moon Trucks, Wash Haven ads with Josh, Maine games with Don, selling books with Grams, sweeping the floor for Stan, surfing the Internet, manning the helm for Jim-Bo, getting through this past year of good friends and good-byes with grace and an inordinate amount of fun and lack of sleep. In general, for seeing your way to your dreams, and ours.

Bon chance, Diana and Bart

Navigator Restaurant

Features hearty New England fare, fresh seafood and lobster, and an unsurpassed view of Edgartown harbor. Informal dining from mid-morning to midnight.

Boathouse Bar

Artifacts from old whaling ships create a nautical setting in which to enjoy a cocktail...a light meal...good company. In fair weather, the patio is open for dining and boat-watching.
